Prophecy of 1919 Senior Class.

BY BESSIE EARNEST.

In the summer of 1927 and I shady nook by Lake Geneva for my guide. As I was all my mind wandered back to my days and I wondered where all my days could be. My fatigue and heat caused me to dream. A line of a large red car came to me and as it became distinct, I saw on each of its petals the name of a 1919 Senior. One by one the petals unfolded and revealed to me the life of now was the director of piano at Western College for Women, in this special occasion, she gave a recital for the benefit of the equipments for the Schubb, and I see how proud she is to perform her part with a smile. It was her past year's work and crowned success for music at C. I. A. that for her an election to her position.

Flint has suddenly won distinction among all the oil magnates of the Southwest, and his name is in the Denver Herald as financing the greatest projects in the history of development of the great fields of Hondo, Texas.

Lynch was making a tour collecting material for her book, "The Woman Citizen at Abroad." She has just completed her fourth novel, the setting of which is laid in Russia. In her book she has revealed the hitherto unexplored field of life among the people of the devastated country.

A deft romantic touch she has added to her drama bearing an old name, and her former classmate, Newton, has set it to music; in short time, the American will have a new number added has been attending the Conservatory of Music and has made progress as she has sent of the 1919 Seniors of Hondo to her graduation recital. She has done some musical composition in collaboration with two of her classmates; besides this, she is active in social and literary Nora's happiness is complete. She is the wife of a successful man in South America—a bank officer in the coffee districts of Brazil. I saw her as she goes with her husband to the coffee plantation. The workmen and their families prepared a surprise for the Madam, and as they serve their rude but hospitable each one looking on with interest to see what their guest there is quite a delightful surprise. Though Lee Nora is in an awkward position; for she has entertained only the merchants in her beautiful built home in Rio de Janeiro. Her husband has shown his business man. After High School, he put up a merchandise store at Quilhi; this was such a success that he went to San Antonio and put up the department store there, and as for managing did not stop now see him at the head of the Frost and Company Department store in Chicago, Illinois.

now does not regret that he pored over his notebooks and made some of the hardest, yet most successful experiments. His friends look forward to his greatest success in the future, for they know that he will stop short of nothing but the best, and he has great promises for becoming one of the best specialists in the work throughout the South.

Georgie Schmidt and Ruth Fly are instructors of Texas' future citizens. Georgia teaches English and Ruth teaches History. Ruth and Georgia have made several trips to England and the continent. Georgia has visited all the birthplaces of the most important English writers and has gained a knowledge of their lives and works at first hand. She has also spent much time in Italy studying Roman education and literature.

Ruth has made extended trips throughout Europe; besides these, she has spent some time in the possessions of the United States, all to secure added material for her history plans.

Just as the last petal again folded, I was awakened by a loud call from my guide. All the vision had passed away, and it left me wondering if it were true.

A Letter From A Hondo Sailor Boy.

April 19, 1919,
U. S. A. Manley.

Dearest Mother and Dad:

Just arrived in the Azores Islands yesterday from the Bermuda Islands. Was a very rough trip but have a good opportunity to see the world as tomorrow we leave for Gibraltar, to Venice, Italy and then to Austria, after a short stay there we are going to Russia.

It certainly is a long trip but am willing to go to see the world.

While in Cuba I put in for a discharge but by the time we return to the States my enlistment will almost be up.

If possible will be home Christmas, but haven't any expectations of being home before.

Bermuda Islands are the prettiest I ever saw. Some of the prettiest scenes that could be found.

Two other sailors and myself hired a bicycle and rode for awhile but we hired a cab to take us to the prettiest part.

Talk about onions, they sure have them there. And grass grows everywhere the year round.

I mailed you a card while in Bermuda and while here (Azores) but as it takes just twice as long to get to the States by mailing it here I am going to take it to Gibraltar.

If there is any possible chance will get some cards of the noted Rock for my note book.

I haven't any different address so just mail my letters the same.

Write so I will get it when we anchor. With worlds of love.

Your son,
KYLE BRADLEY.

PEARSALL 3. HONDO 1.

On Tuesday May 20, the Hondo boys went to Pearsall on a Baseball excursion, but owing to bad roads arrived with only one car and eight men.

But the splendid work of battles, Beal and Windrow, backed by a matchless infield, held the Pearsall nine to a 3 to 1 score, which far exceeded the expectations of our team, on account of the absence of some of our star players. Our jinx, the mud, kept us from winning a signal victory, never-the-less it was a hard fought game.

"BACK US UP NOW"

IS APPEAL OF THIRTY-TWO TEXAS METHODIST MISSIONARIES IN MESSAGE TO 400,000 TEXAS METHODISTS

GREET TEXAS FROM ABROAD

"Back us up" is the soul-stirring appeal of thirty-two Texas missionaries now in seven foreign lands to the 400,000 Methodists of Texas on the eve of their great campaign in connection with the Texas drive for more than $5,000,000 as a thank-offering for the centennial of Methodist Missions.

Texas is called upon to raise one-seventh of the total amount, $35,000,000, which will be collected in eight days, beginning May 18, and Texas Methodists have a special reason for doing their part, because so many heroic Texans have manned the outposts of Methodist missions as doctors, nurses, teachers and evangelists.

Go where you will in Africa, China, Japan, Korea, Cuba, Brazil, and Mexico, not to mention the hundreds of stations among the foreigners now in America, and there you will find the Texas missionary rebuilding the world's civilization for the Christ of America.

THE AOUAD.

"Mr. Aoudad," said Daddy, "is a vain creature and I must tell you the story of him and of his conceit."

"Evidently he is an animal," said Dick.

"Yes," said Nancy. "Daddy tells us of animals we've never heard of before. Often we're not sure they're animals. They may be birds or fish, for all we know."

"Maybe Mr. Aoudad is not an animal," said Dick. "He somehow sounded like one, but perhaps he's a bird."

Daddy wouldn't give them any hint for quite a little time. He liked to hear them try to guess.

"Mr. Aoudad," he began, "is one of the Barbary wild sheep family, and a distant relation of our mountain sheep and goats."

"His home is in the north of Africa where he lives in the hottest, driest part of the country he can find."

"I suppose," said Nancy, "they can't put him in the zoo—or any of his family—here in America. We don't have hot, dry weather all the time. We have all sorts of weather."

"Strange to say," said Daddy, "he thrives in any zoo. He stands different climates far better than our own Rocky Mountain sheep and goats do. He doesn't seem to mind any kind of weather, though in his native land he chooses the hot and dry mountains."

"That's probably the kind he likes best of all," said Dick.

"Probably," said Nancy. "But I think he must be quite a fine animal not to be a weather grumbler."

"That's his very best point," said Daddy. "But as I began to tell you

He Thought He Looked Very Fine.

he is very vain. Once he was standing on top of a high rock over in the mountains of his home.

"He posed and stood first this way, and then that. He held his head high, then he dropped it a little. He looked as though ready for a great battle and attack, and then looked gentle and pleasant, with a different change of pose each time."

"He thought he looked very fine on the high rocky peak and the thought that he was so handsome made him very happy. Pretty soon several creatures came along—they were cousins of his but not nearly so handsome. Still they were rather vain, too, and liked to think they were fine looking."

"How do you do?" they said. "What in the world are you doing?"

"Posing for my picture," said Mr. Aoudad.

"Who is going to take it?" asked his cousins.

"I didn't say anyone was going to take my picture," answered Mr. Aoudad. "I said I was posing for it. That means I am getting in fine positions so that should I ever want to have my picture taken I would know just how to stand so I would look my best."

"I would never have a photographer say to me, 'Now, hold your head a little to one side, please. And smile—just a trifle.' No, I would know how to stand and look."

"Of course that must be a fine thing to know," said the cousins. "We do believe we'll go home to our rocky peaks and try the same thing. It would be so useful to know how to stand for our photographs."

"I'm not so sure that it would be useful," said Mr. Aoudad. "But it's very nice practicing at any rate. And I've heard of another animal who does just the same thing."

"Who?" asked the cousins.

"The peacock, they say, is as vain as we are. Yes, I've heard that nothing pleases the peacock more than to admire himself. And I think I'd rather like to meet him. I'd say, 'You've got a great deal of good sense, old chap. There is nothing in the world like appreciating ourselves.'"

"What is the peacock proud of?" asked the aoudad cousins.

"He has a marvelous tail of many colors and beautiful feathers," said Mr. Aoudad. "But we have big curved horns and shaggy hair. And not only are we fine looking but we are wild and strong. We don't look where we're going, because we go just where we want to, and bump into anything that gets in our way." And that, ended Daddy, "is perfectly true."

What Papa Meant.

"Mamma," asked a little three-year-old miss, "is papa's picture torn?"

"Not that I know of, dear. Why do you ask?" replied her mother.

"Because," answered the little one, "this morning he said, 'Darn my picture.'"

One Reason Girls Steal

This bit of philosophy of a reformed girl thief was contained in an article in the People's Home Journal on the value of the probation law: "A girl can no more live without a few pleasures and pretty possessions than she can without food. Take it from me, girls don't want to steal. If they knew how to earn things for themselves, they wouldn't be bad. Someday there'll be a way found for girls to earn what they need before they get into trouble, not after. Then the whole world'll be different."

Don't Tease Child.

Teasing has ruined the disposition of many a child. The parents are not likely to be guilty of such conduct, but older children in the family, or some other relative, may make the child's life utterly miserable by constant teasing. A thoughtless adult, struggling to be playful, will keep a child struggling for some object, almost allowing him to get it over and over again, only to thwart the child's purpose, and so causing a wearing irritation.

Where the War Money Went

THE ORDER AND THE BILL

From our entry in the war
to the end of 1919, Uncle Sam's outgo was more than 26 billion dollars. But of this nearly 8 billion were lent to other nations—and that was some of the best fighting finance, as you will see a little later.

By spending and lending 26 billion in nineteen months we saved six months' further warfare, and perhaps a year.

We also saved at least 100-000 American soldiers' lives and four times as many wounded.

Nor was this all. For had the war continued through 1919 our further expense this year would have been not less than 25 billion dollars, and more likely 30 billions. So that through the nineteen months of war spending, if we deduct money raised to lend Allied nations, we find that every dollar raised by Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps came pretty near saving the spending of two dollars
during 1919—the year of fighting that never came.

Shipping was a big problem,
and we were caught short of merchant ships. But our shipyards got busy and new ships were built, and old ones brought from the Great Lakes, taken from coast-wise service, chartered from neutral nations, and lent us by the Allies. So, in November, 1918, we had a cargo fleet of 2,335,000 deadweight tons, which transported to France 5,979,000 short tons of cargo. Of the 2,048,008 American soldiers sent over, 898,449

were carried under the American flag.

Uncle Sam built in France
937 miles of standard gauge railroad and 538 miles of narrow gauge—a total of 1,475
miles nearly as much standard gauge railroad as there is in Connecticut—almost another Lackawanna system. Counting in the narrow gauge, there is more mileage than the railroads
in Maryland, and nearly another Chicago, Great Western system. In locomotives, 1,333 standard gauge engines were shipped to France, and 1,055 erected; 406 narrow gauge locomotives shipped to France; 18-013 standard gauge cars shipped to France and 14,302 erected; 3,751 narrow gauge cars shipped over. In this country the Armistice found half as much railroad equipment again, ready for shipment or under construction; 599 standard gauge locomotives, 32,685 standard gauge cars, 217 narrow gauge locomotives, 4,872 narrow gauge cars.

When the war ended our army abroad was equal to the British Expeditionary Force—2,013,039 officers and men in Europe and Siberia. Back home
we had 1,690,234 more in training, and were steadily turning them out of the training camps
after 4 months' drilling.

Where the war money went?

Our war money—if it went anywhere it was largely from one pocket to the other, and it has worked so well for us, and will work so much harder in the future, that it was not an expenditure, but a splendid national investment.

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Girls! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

A Doubtful Honor.

"I hear your daughter is engaged to be married."

"Yes."

"Permit me to congratulate you."

"I don't know whether or not I should be congratulated. The chap she's picked out to marry is a poet."

A Simple Suggestion.

"Is there any truth to the story that you requested your brother-in-law to leave your house?"

"None whatever," replied the giant Missourian. "I kicked him out, and told him I'd break his neck if he ever came back."—Exchange.

In other words, besides pleasing the taste,
Chesterfields go 'em all one better—they sat-

No other cigarette can give you this new thing in cigarette enjoyment because none can copy Chesterfield's blend.

It's a blend of the finest TURKISH tobaccos

which these tobaccos have been proportioned
—is a real discovery in cigarette making.

Beginning of Pittsburgh.

November 25 is the anniversary of the raising of the English flag over the ruins of Fort Duquesne in 1754. The place was then named Pittsburgh, in honor of Britain's famous prime minister. It owes its great growth to its proximity to coal and iron fields of vast magnitude.

PROMINENT TEXANS
SUPPORT METHODIST
CENTENARY DRIVE
ON EVE OF GREAT CAMPAIGN
FOR $35,000,000 THEY MAKE SNAPPY STATEMENTS TO TEXAS METHODISTS

CAMPAIGN IS ON MAY 18-25
More than 400,000 Texas Methodists are to be asked to contribute more than $35,000,000 towards the $35,000,000 thank-offering of the Southern Methodist Church, which is now celebrating the centennial of its missionary activities.
Texas Methodism has been organized down to the last man, and Texas will probably give more like $8,000,- 000 before the eight-day drive concludes on May 25.
On the eve of the great drive, the greatest ever undertaken by any church since the days of Christ,
prominent business men of Texas,
widely known as leading Methodist laymen also have given out snappy interviews forecasting state-wide victory.
R. M. Kelly, successful manufacturer of Longview, president of the Kelly Plow Company, said:
"The Centenary idea is influencing our whole people and slowly, but surely transforming the Methodism of Texas. No such spirit ever gripped this section, and no such results ever followed any church activities.
"Our business men are impressed with the fact of a preliminary world survey, and a detailed and rational estimate of just what the world needs, and exactly what the work will cost. They join the church authorities in the belief that this work is now imperative."
Judge G. W. Barcus of Waco said:
"The Centenary Movement appeals to all classes and the program is one that commands the attention of the business world. The entire Methodist Church in Texas, as elsewhere, is lining up as one man. Texas Methodists never fail to do their duty either by their country or their church."
Judge C. M. Smithdeal of Dallas
said:
"The mere statement of our aims arouses the old-time Methodist enthusiasm which I had vainly imagined we had lost. Our own generation will profit greatly by this drive, but generations remote from us will be blessed. Of course, Texas Methodists will rally like a moving army
to one objective, victory."
Hon. Cone Johnson of Tyler, former solicitor-general of the United States, said:
"Considering the pitifully meager support of money and service which the Methodist Church has received from its members, its growth and career has been the miracle of the ages. If we endow its present projects with the sum requested, and we shall do that without a doubt, it will have its first real opportunities to manifest to mankind what it can do for the spread of the Gospel. Every Methodist with a spark of loyalty to the history and blessed traditions of our church will be in at the drive."
Ira J. Ayers, a government official
on the border, at El Paso, said:
"The tide is rising. We're going over! The idea of celebrating the Centenary of established missions by American Methodists in such a fitting manner strongly appealed to me from the first. For West Texas and New Mexico I can speak with certainty. They will go over in gallant style when the returns are all in."
Judge John W. Woods of Abilene,
said:
"As was recently said, $35,000,000
or more for Christianity, but not one cent for Bolshevism. Better five hundred young men and young women in mission fields, than twenty million in the trenches. The laymen who have long been asking for something to do, recognize in this a real opportunity for service commensurate with their ability to do things."

In the whole field of medicine there damage to the flesh more quickly than cuts, wounds, sprains, burns, scalds and rheumatism its healing and penetrating power is extraordinary. Sold

DON'T EXPERIMENT.
You Will Make No Mistake if You
Follow This Advice.
Never neglect your kidneys.
If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness,
it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are frequently symptoms of kidney trouble, and a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys should be taken in time.
Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy to use. It has acted effectively in many cases in this vicinity.
Can Hondo residents demand further proof of merit than the following recommendation?
Floyd Trim, Box 24, Bigwells, Tex., says: "I suffered from soreness in my back just over my kidneys and at times lameness set in. Different remedies were suggested to me and I tried them, but no benefit followed. I had often read statements given by people who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit and I was finally led to take them.
The first box gave me so much relief that I continued to use them until I cured."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Trim

STILL PURCHASE WIVES.
Miss Kathron Wilson, of Dallas,
Texas, a missionary of the M. E.
Church, South, to Africa, has written recently to her friends that the missionaries are having a hard time getting enough little African girls together to form a school. Miss Wilson walked a long distance to another village in an effort to get a few girl children to come to school. The chief told them very politely, but firmly,
that all the little girls of his village had been purchased as wives and their fathers had no further jurisdiction over them. One of the results of the Centenary Movement of the M. E. Church, South, will be the establishment of schools in Africa in the hope of uplifting degraded womanhood on the Dark Continent.
SURGEONS agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the FIRST TREATMENT is most im-

Weavers.
The arts of weaving and rope and among caterpillars and spiders. The wonderful nests out of leaves by sewing them together.

Dizziness, vertigo (blind staggers),

Weekly Health Talks

A WORD ABOUT THE KIDNEYS
BY DOCTOR WATSON.

People are easily frightened when they think something is the matter with their lungs or heart, and well they may be; but few people understand the dangers of diseased kidneys. These organs have a duty of vital importance to perform, and if they are diseased, there is no telling how or where the symptoms may appear. The kidneys are filters, and when they are healthy they remove the poisons from the blood and purify it. When the kidneys are diseased, the poisons are spread everywhere, and one of these poisons is uric acid. The uric acid is carried all through the system and deposited in various places, in the form of urate salts—in the feet, ankles, wrists and back—often forming bags under the eyes. Sometimes the resulting trouble is called rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and backache. Finally, come stone in the bladder, diabetes and Bright's disease.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., in recent years, discovered that a certain combination of remedies would dissolve uric acid (urate salts) in the system. He found this combination to be harmless, so that he made it up in tablets, of double strength, and called them Anuric Tablets. They dissolve uric acid in the human system as hot coffee dissolves sugar. If you have uric acid troubles, don't delay in taking Anuric Tablets, which can be secured in the drug stores. You can write Dr. Pierce, too, and he will tell you what to eat and how to live so that more uric acid will not form in your system. Dr. Pierce will not charge for this advice.

George Mangold and Anton Mandy.

Frank and Edmund Keller were here from Lacoste Sunday.

Biliousness and Constipation.

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally." —Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala.

Cause of Headache.

By knowing the cause, a disease may often be avoided. This is particularly true of headache. The most common cause of headache is a disordered stomach or constipation, which may be corrected by taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. Many others have obtained permanent relief by taking these Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.

A grand dance will be given at Wernette's Opera House, Castroville, on Sunday night, May 25, 1919. Homan's Orchestra will furnish the music. Come one, come all and enjoy yourself.

President Wilson sent his message to Congress Tuesday. He recommends repeal of the war time prohibition law—so far as it applies to wine and beer only; railroads, telegraph and telephone lines to be returned to private ownership; revision of war taxes, etc.

For a Sprained Ankle.

As soon as possible after the injury is received get a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and follow the plain printed directions which accompany the bottle.

ON-HAND OBSERVATIONS
by a Field Agent

FLETCHER DAVIS, State Department of Agriculture, in the Southland Farmer, May 1st.

"Waste not, want not," "Wifful waste makes woeful want." These time-worn, copy book legends are timely just now when Nature is smiling forth in generous bounty.

There is every appearance that Texas is going to have an abundant production of everything usually produced on the farm this year. This is indeed one of the fat years. But what shall it profit us if nature does her utmost and we waste her bounties as we have too often wasted them in the past? If we, grasshopper like, sing while the harvests are ripe and forget the winter of want? Let us not play the prodigal this season; let us conserve the many gifts of nature's riches now against the lean years that are to come.

Barring some dire disaster, we will soon be harvesting one of the largest small grain, and especially oats, crops ever produced in Texas. With the present labor shortage it is going to tax the skill and managerial ability of many farmers to save the crop without serious losses. Neighborhood co-operation, a mutual helping of each other, is the only thing that will solve the problem in many cases. Careful attention to the details of preparation in advance, so as to avoid unnecessary delays at a critical time, should be given now. Harvesting and threshing machinery should be put in good condition and repairs and parts made ready against possible break-downs. Binding twine, sacking, etc., should be secured and placed where they will be most readily at hand when needed. The labor supply should be marshalled so that every man will be placed where he can labor the most efficiently and every man should be in his place and be dependable when the crucial time comes. The saving of our vast grain crop is going to be a big task. It should be as carefully planned in advance as a general plans his battles; and it should be carried out with the same orderliness and precision if we would spare ourselves much needless waste of nature's gift.

Don't try to be a market hog! We have in mind a community where a few years ago, thinking to get on the market early with a part of the new crop before the main influx of it had caused the inevitable slump that always follows excessive offerings of any commodity, several cars of oats were shipped green and immature. The result was several cars of spoiled grain that had to be dumped and a freight kick-back on some sorely disappointed and greatly disgruntled shippers. Such "wifful waste" deserves the "want" it always brings in its wake. It is inexcusable; let the grain mature.

A few seasons ago, as a Field Agent for our State Department of Agriculture, the writer was sent through a part of the small grain belt of the state in the midst of the harvest season. Every where he met farmers who were complaining that the price of oats had slumped fifty per cent as soon as the harvest began and yet they were rushing them pell mell onto the market for whatever they would bring. Inquiry among them disclosed that, notwithstanding they were prosperous men as a class, with the rarest of exceptions they were without storage facilities of any kind for storing and protecting their grain. So long as we fail to provide ourselves with storage facilities and compel some one else to be our warehouseman—for that is what we do when we force our commodity into the hands of the speculative buyer—we must expect to pay the penalty in low prices. The laborer is worthy of his hire, and when we make the speculative buyer carry our commodity for us from the time we dump it on him until the demands of consumption call for it, we can expect the laborer to claim his wage. And he is in a position to collect it for he always buys low enough to make his wages secure from the start. If we have storage facilities—either private or in a community warehouse or granary, let us use those facilities and avoid as much as possible the swamping of the market to the financial injury of all; let us keep as much of the middleman's tribute in our own pockets as we can. Excessive middle-men's profits, made possible by farmers' inability or refusal to carry their own products over periods of dull demand until consumption demands and takes them, is one of our most wifful economic wastes and is productive of more "woeful want" than all of our other profligacies.

Speaking of the small grain crop, we are reminded that the 1919 crop is a fruitful source of waste and profligacy. And there will be thousands of acres of valuable and fertile land in Texas left idle after the grain harvest unless follow-up crops are planted on the grain land. Many efforts last year to increase the Nation's food supply with follow-up crops after grain met with dismal failure. But last year was an unusually dry year, and besides proper crops were not always selected for these follow-up plantings. We have in mind only one success—and that only partial—with these crops last year, but that one should encourage those who were unsuccessful to try again. A Limestone County farmer planted his oat stubble in cow peas. A light rain followed and on the low part of the field, where it over-flowed, a fair crop of peas was made. On the higher parts of the fields, from which the shower readily flowed off, nothing was produced. Had this particular farmer plowed his land in broad terraces or contours and held the water where it fell, he would have prevented the wasting of that amount of water and possibly have produced a crop of this valuable legume over the entire field. Since moisture supply is usually the limiting factor in growing follow-up crops on grain-stubble, no means to conserve moisture and prevent its waste should be neglected. By the way, it might be observed also in passing that some one of the legumes suited to your soil and climate will be the most profitable crop for various reasons. Try the Teryan bean in the dryer sections of the state.

And are not the vegetable gardens something immense this spring? You have already eaten fresh garden truck until the sight of an onion makes your eyes want to leak and you can't look a sord in the eye without having to blink to beat the band. But if you are cat-bagge headed enough to know beans you will not let any of these valuable products go to waste, just because you have eaten them in their season until you are tired of them. There are one or more ways to can, preserve, pickle, salt, kraut or dry-process every food product that grows in the garden—and they will be wanted in due time. If you are not familiar with all of these processes you still have something to learn from some one about farming.

Every farm home where any pretense is made of growing a family garden or maintaining an orchard should have facilities for canning and preserving the surplus. In this way and this way only can serious wastes of these valuable products be avoided. Where sufficient vegetables are produced to provide a surplus of canned products over and above the local needs, a community canner should be installed and a uniform, standardized product should be put up for the market. The State Department of Agriculture, under the direction of its chief of the woman's division, Mrs. Nellie B. Kent, has plans for such community enterprises, and will take pleasure in giving instructions as to how they can be installed and operated, and this product standardized throughout the state and sold under a common label designed and copyrighted by the state Department of Agriculture. Better investigate this; it is big with possibilities for your community and your state.

We are indeed a profligate people in the matter of wasting vegetables. As a case in point, the writer recalls that once, after having urged in one of his lectures in a truck-growing community the importance of a canning factory to preserve their surplus and unmerchantable products from absolute waste, at the conclusion of his remarks one of his auditors approached him with this remarkable statement: "You can not emphasize the importance of canning factories too strongly. Why, right here in this town last fall we begged buyers to take our sweet potatoes at 40 cents per bushel. But before spring I was paying fifteen cents a can for sweet potatoes canned in Louisiana." Such conditions as that ought not to be possible here in our great state.

A prolific source of waste on the farm, one that seems trifling at first glance but becomes startling when viewed in the aggregate, is the spoiling of eggs during warm weather. Careful poultry husbandmen recommend as measures for minimizing this loss the separating of the roosters from the hens as soon as the breeding season is over. Infertile eggs keep better than fertile eggs because there is no germ in the infertile egg to start incubation and set up decay. Remove the roosters from the flock, rather eggs twice daily, keep in a dry cool place and market eggs as frequently as possible. If you have a

Thanks to PERUNA

Mrs. Kate Marquis, Middleburg, Logan Co., Ohio, writes as follows:

"I have used Peruna with success. It has cured me of catarrh of the head and throat. It is the best medicine for catarrh that I have ever used. I am completely cured. Thanks to Peruna."

Mrs. Marquis is but one of many thousands who know the value of Peruna for that catarrhal condition of the membranes responsible for many of the human ills.

I Am Completely Cured

If you object to liquid remedies ask for Peruna in tablet form.

Count Rantzau and several other members of the German peace delegation returned to Versailles from Spa.

The peace treaty will possibly be signed or rejected during the middle of June. The Germans are given more time to consider. Their counter proposals are considered now by the allies.

Do You Enjoy Life?

A man in good physical condition is almost certain to enjoy life, while the bilious and dyspeptic are despondent, do not enjoy their meals and feel miserable a good share of the time. This ill feeling is nearly always unnecessary. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets to tone up the stomach, improve the digestion and regulate the bowels is all that is needed. Try it.

Aviators are ambitious to fly across the Atlantic. The American seaplane NC-4 made the trip from Newfoundland to the Azore islands in 15 hours and 13 minutes, making about 85 miles an hour. Fog and storm damaged three other planes, one an Australian.

About Rheumatism.

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is the most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that there is a remedy that will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. It is called Chamberlain's Liniment.

W. E. Kellar, formerly of Luling, Texas, was awarded a jury verdict of $50,000 in 36 district court in San Antonio last Saturday as damages against 11 Luling citizens who he claimed had tarred and feathered him in May last year, for alleged disparaging remarks concerning the Red Cross and the government.

For a burn or a scald apply Chamberlain's Salve. It will allay the pain almost instantly and quickly heal the injured parts.

The 36th division will embark for home at the end of May, and the 90th during June.

LaCoste Ledger Laconics.

The Rt. Rev. Arthur Drossaerts D. D., Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of San Antonio, Texas, arrived at LaCoste, Tuesday morning per auto with Eugene Keller and John C. Biediger as chauffeurs. His lordships visit was a confirmation tour, and some 16 boys and 16 girls, and a great number of Mexicans were given Holy Confirmation following High mass with Rev. P. Sehnetzer as celebrant.

Miss Regina Ney of Idlewild spent Wednesday with relatives in D'Hanis.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawkes and baby of Cline were guests of W. H. Hawkes and family Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Biry and children of Biry were visiting relatives at the Sauz the first part of the week.

Opportunity may not knock but once. If you failed to hear her call just remember the postoffice is around the corner and the postmaster is there waiting for you with a supply of 1919 W. S. S. Don't put off your visit. Drop around to see him today.

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free. E. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. If you are ever troubled with indigestion, Chamberlain's Tablets will do you good. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. There are hundreds of people who have been restored to health and happiness by the use of Chamberlain's Tablets. should. Belching, sour stomach and bloating are symptoms of indigestion and are relieved by taking Chamberlain's Tablets as directed. Indigestion is usually accompanied by constipation and is aggravated by it. Chamberlain's Tablets cause a gentle movement of the bowels, relieving the constipated condition. Chamberlain's Tablets are also most excellent for biliousness. Sold everywhere at 25c.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard

I am now organizing a sheep and goat association for the purpose of getting a better price for our wool and for the eradication of wolves and coyotes. Great interest is being shown in this association.

In my talks at meetings over the county I have encouraged the keeping of records on all farm crops, and through this encouragement I have been requested by the members of the Farmers' Union to get them five hundred record books. I consider this a very educational move as so few farmers know the exact cost of producing a crop. I am receiving the hearty cooperation of the people which makes the work very pleasant.

I am yours for service,

Methodist Centenary Collection.

In April 1919 the first effort of the Methodist Church was made to give the gospel of Jesus Christ to the entire world. This effort resulted in raising something over $700,000. We are trying to celebrate this important event by raising $115,000,000.

Hondo's quota is $5,740.00, to be paid in five annual payments. We have raised to date about $9,000.00.

The Missionary Centenary has one end—making democracy safe; and one means of reaching that end—bringing the religion of Jesus Christ into vital contact with the lives of men.

It gives the Church a chance to capitalize its resources of spiritual and material power and ever afterward do the King's business efficiently.

It gives every member and friend of the Church a chance to make an investment in human souls.

If you have not been called upon by some member of the Committee, see them at once and give them your subscription.

In the next week's issue we will give you the exact amount subscribed.

J. W. LONG.

Hondo Man Elected.

J. F. Jungman of Hondo was elected president of the Students' association of Rice institute for the year 1919-20, winning over Albert Thomas of Nacogdoches by a majority of 40 votes.

The election was a runoff affair, following the general balloting of last Monday when none of four candidates secured a majority of votes cast.

Warm interest developed over the run-off election, more votes being cast than in the general race. A few hand bills were circulated and a considerable amount of regulation election by-play resulted.—Houston paper.

One would hardly expect "dirty politics" in an election of this kind but it seems the boys are not a whit behind their more mature brothers in their campaign methods. Circulars against the opposing candidates were distributed where it was thought they would do the most good, and every other device usually resorted to by astute politicians were brought into play by the opposing factions. Frank won by a decisive majority, and now that the contest is over we suppose all factions will line up behind the successful candidate. The successfully candidate feels very grateful to fellow-students in other schools he has attended for boosting for him.

Like another president who is now occupying a large space in the public mind, President Jungman has his vexatious problems on hand and it is possible he too will have to convene a "peace council" shortly to try and establish peace. Relations between Rice and A. & M. are rather strained, the A. & M. claiming an indemnity from Rice. It is hoped, however, that should President Jungman find it necessary to convene a "peace council" its deliberations will not, like a "peace council" we all wot of, extend its deliberations over such a period that men now in middle life will not live to see the end of it.

Frank's friends here congratulate him on the success of his first candidacy for office.

Meanwhile those who have been worrying over what we would do for campaign managers when the present bunch are gathered to their fathers, can calm any fears they may have had. It is probable these young fellows will make the old fellows look like tyros when they get into the game.

valuable rooster of course it will pay you to coop him up and care for him during the warm months. But it will pay on most farms, where sad to relate the dunghill or mixed breed rooster still prevails, to send the roosters to the pot and place an order with some of the breeders of pure bred fowls advertising in this paper now—if not for an entire flock of purebreds of your choice—for at least a purebred rooster for fall delivery. Scrub poultry and scrub stock are prolific sources of waste on many farms. It is so easy to correct this in the matter of poultry that not to do so is "wilful waste."

It has been the writers' experience that he can always find place for all the eggs he can produce while they are fresh. But should you find a surplus of fresh, infertile eggs accumulating on your hands, it is not necessary or at all excusable to let them spoil. There are several approved and proven methods of preserving clean, fresh, infertile eggs in a good wholesome, edible condition for long periods. But they must be clean, fresh and infertile to begin with or the results will be disappointing.

"A good method for the preservation of eggs," says Joseph W. Kinghorn, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, "is by the use of sodium silicate, or as it is commonly called, water-glass. The present price of sodium silicate is about 30 cents per quart, and at this price eggs may be preserved at a cost of approximately 2 cents per dozen. It is not desirable to use the water-glass solution a second time.

"Use 1 quart of sodium silicate to 9 quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled. Place the mixture in a 5-gallon crock or jar. This will be sufficient to preserve 15 dozen eggs, and will serve as a guide for the quantity needed to preserve larger amounts of eggs.

"First, select a 5-gallon crock and clean it thoroughly, after which it should be scalded and allowed to dry. "Second, heat a quantity of water to the boiling point and allow it to cool.

"Third, when cold, measure out 9 quarts of water, place it in the crock, and add 1 quart of sodium silicate, stirring the mixture thoroughly.

"Fourth, the eggs should be placed in the solution. Be very careful to allow at least 2 inches of the solution to cover the eggs.

"Fifth, place the crock containing the preserved eggs in a cool, dry place, well covered to prevent evaporation. Waxen paper covered over and tied around the top of the crock will answer this purpose."

"When water glass can not be obtained, the following method may be used in its stead. Many consider this method entirely satisfactory, though instances are known where eggs so preserved have tasted slightly of lime:

"Dissolve 2 to 3 pounds of unslacked lime in 5 gallons of water that has previously been boiled and allowed to cool and allow the mixture to stand until the lime settles and the liquid is clear. Place clean, fresh eggs in a clean earthenware jar or keg and pour the clear lime water into the vessel until the eggs are covered. At least 2 inches of the solution should cover the top layer of eggs.

"Sometimes a pound of salt is used with the lime, but experience has shown that in general the lime without the salt is more satisfactory."

Wasted time and wasted opportunity are the causes of much woeful want in this world. Now is your opportunity and now is the time to provide your next year's supply of bacon and lard. There should be pigs enough on every farm to assure this, and the should be kept constantly in a growing, thriving condition. This can be best and most economically achieved by supplying pasture or soiling crops for the pigs. There are too many crops that can be profitably grown for this purpose to call for enumeration here. To assure against a possible failure of the corn crop and a consequent shortage in feed for fattening in the fall, a crop of peanuts and sweet potatoes may yet be planted, where suitable soil for these crops can be had, and an abundance of cheap fattening feed provided. By balancing the ration with these two products and avoiding too excessive feeding of peanuts hogs can be finished satisfactorily, for home use, with little or no grain. Are you making sure against want in this way of your very essential bacon and lard supply or are you wasting the opportunity that is yours?

Finally, the man who takes advantage of time's opportunities, who wastes not nature's bounties, who provides his own meat and lard economically, maintains a sufficient poultry flock to supply the family needs, who has his pantry supplied with an abundance of processed vegetables and fruits, who is
